Hall-Musco Conservatory of Music

Chapman University, a mid-sized, comprehensive private university located in Orange in the heart of Southern California, has been renowned for more than 70 years for its outstanding music programs, which are today concentrated in the university's acclaimed William D. Hall and Marybelle and Sebastian P. Musco Conservatory of Music. The Hall-Musco Conservatory offers world-class professional programs in instrumental and vocal music, leading to the bachelor of arts in music and the bachelor of music in composition, music education and performance. Many of the Hall-Musco Conservatory's highly trained vocal and instrumental musicians, conductors and composers have graduated to perform and work with the world's top symphony orchestras, opera companies, choral ensembles and on the Broadway stage, or are engaged in music education throughout the United States and abroad.*

Dear Family and Friends,

Thank you for joining us for the finale concert of our 2014 Choral Music Camp. In a world with decreased funding for arts education programs, community programs like our Choral Music Camp are invaluable. My faculty, staff and I hope that by demonstrating the power of the performing arts—and our programs—to open imaginations and to engage and enlighten, young students involved in our community outreach programs will set their sights higher and dream bigger.

The Choral Music Camp is a tremendous opportunity for high school students to receive first-rate vocal music training, and to encounter the university as a place where they can turn their passion into a vocation. This week has been a successful collaboration between a variety of students from different backgrounds with the ultimate goal of working together as artists.

Each of the divisions of the College of Performing Arts – Dance, Theatre and the Hall-Musco Conservatory of Music – have unique and successful community programs, all of which stress our highly personalized approach to arts education. In addition to the Choral Music Camp, our Theatre Department's Henry-Kemp Blair Shakespeare Festival is an annual event inviting California high schools to participate and learn more about performing Shakespeare. In the Department of Dance, High School Dance Day reaches out to neighboring high school dance students for a one-day intensive dance program covering topics such as auditions and the college application process.

We are so very proud to have this opportunity to showcase the talents of our campers and all they learned this week. When they return to their high schools in the fall, I hope they will continue to apply all that they learned at our camp. I hope you will join us again throughout the year to enjoy the talents of our university students and faculty, and continue to discover what makes our programs so exceptional.

Enjoy the performance!

Sincerely,

Dale A. Merrill, Dean

Invest in our next generation of artists.

The College of Performing Arts brings you the most vital and powerful part of our curriculum – live performances of dance, music and theatre. This extraordinary hands-on training for our next generation of artists is possible only through your generosity.

By helping to maintain the resources essential to our curriculum, you allow the College to offer a dynamic learning environment that nurtures the creativity of our students with one-on-one training, ensuring they master their craft. We can produce exceptional performances like what you are about to see only with support from people committed to excellence in performing arts. People just like you.

Help support the College of Performing Arts’ talented young students as they transform into tomorrow’s professional artists. To learn more about giving to the College of Performing Arts, please contact Peggy Ruppel, Development Coordinator, at (714) 289-2085 or pruppel@chapman.edu.
